

Social Media

Carter Ward

Caption

Most universities have the data. The problem is nobody can see all of it at once.

When UAH set out to fix a reporting environment where data was fragmented across departments and every request ran through IT, they chose Evisions Argos. Connected directly to Banner, Argos gave faculty and staff across all eight colleges self-service access to consistent, governed institutional data.

The result? A reporting environment that finally scaled with the university.

Read the full case study to see how UAH made it work. [\[link\]](#)

Image

